

Emergency Management Systems (EMS)

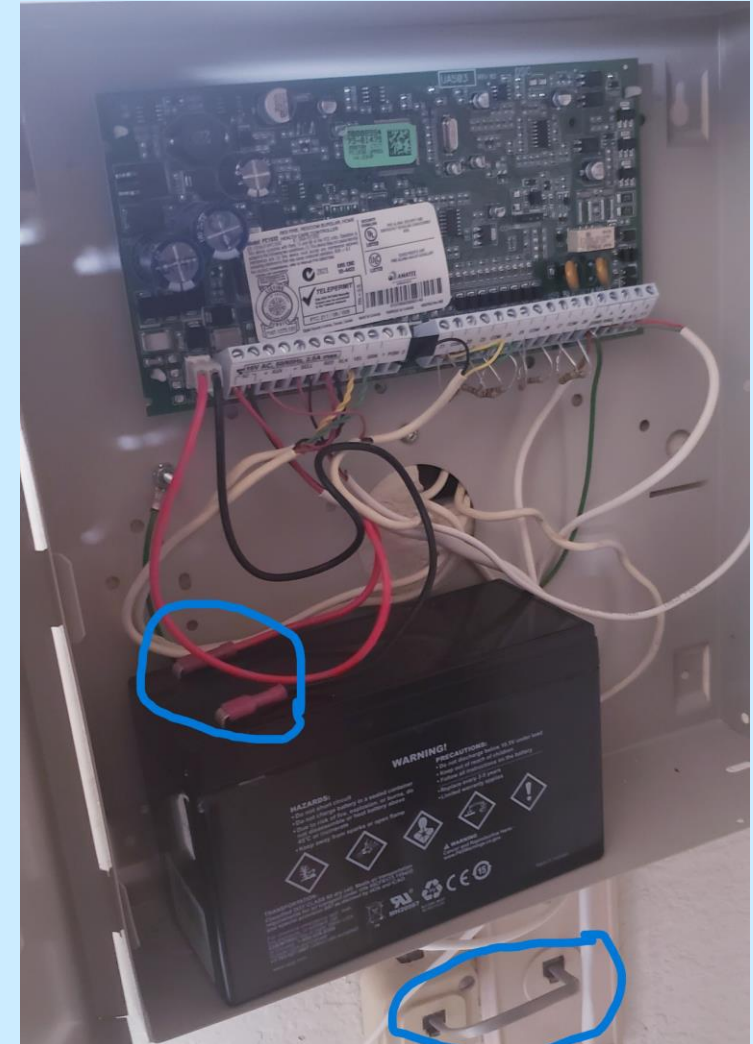

What You Need to Know

Status of EMS System in OHCC

- Discontinued in June 2024
- No replacement EMS will be provided
- Former EMS will support smoke alarms only “if” electrical power is still on. An auditable sound will be heard. System will NOT call anyone. No power / no smoke alarm.
- Presently the California State Building Code requires that smoke alarms be in:
 - 1) the hallway outside the bedrooms
 - 2) in each bedroom and
 - 3) on every floor regardless of whether there is a bedroom on that floor.
- Not having a functional smoke alarm could affect your homeowner's insurance and result in loss of life

Current EMS System

You can disconnect this system and throw it away. The battery needs to be recycled. Cancel your telephone landline "if" you have it only for the EMS.

Do you need/want an EMS?

Other than a smoke alarm an EMS is optional!

Available at: Amazon, Home Depot, Lowes, Walmart

What to consider in an EMS

- Think about your current and future needs
- 24/7 monitoring (smoke/carbon monoxide, medical)
- Voice Assistance Activation (Help I have fallen, etc.)
- Remote medical assistance outside of the home
- Camera surveillance (Inside, Outside, Front door)
- Glass Breakage (forced entry) or all windows/doors monitored
- Wi-Fi or hard-wired based
- How much can you reasonably afford

Other Things to Consider

- Installation – Do It Yourself – Professional
- Own, lease, or pay overtime?
- Do you need 24/7 battery backup?
- Do you have medical devices that require monitoring?
- Your medical history and family medical history
- Do you want the EMS to contact others than first responders?
- Does your insurance policy offer a discount for an EMS?

How to Investigate Your Options

- Ask your friends and neighbors
- Read reviews about systems
- Consumer Reports

 Alexa Emergency Assist

No landline, no cellphone, no problem.

Be prepared with hands-free, fast, 24/7 help when you need it most.

Just ask, “Alexa, call for help”

You’re better prepared to get the help you need in an emergency. Saying “Alexa, call for help” connects you with a trained Urgent Response agent who requests dispatch of emergency services and passes on critical information from your profile to first responders. Your designated emergency contacts are informed through alerts whenever a call starts and ends. You save precious time and gain peace of mind.

24/7 Urgent Response

Avoid wait times. Hands-free access to trained agents who can help get you the help you need in an emergency.

Critical Information

Expedite help to you as first responders receive pre-saved critical information like allergies, gate codes, or pets in the home.

Emergency Contacts

Save time as Alexa will automatically notify up to 25 of your emergency contacts anytime you start and end a call with Urgent Response.

Smart Alerts

Get notified if Alexa detects a smoke or carbon monoxide alarm, or the sound of glass breaking, to quickly contact Urgent Response whether you’re home or away.

Apple Fall Detection

People also ask :

Which Apple Watch models have fall detection?

Here's how it works. If Apple Watch SE, Apple Watch Series 4 or later, or Apple Watch Ultra or later detects a hard fall while you're wearing your watch, it taps you on the wrist, sounds an alarm, and displays an alert.

Does an iPhone have a medical alert system for seniors?

Our Medical Alert Connect App expands the power of our innovative medical alert systems and adds new and exciting features to your existing service experience. Based on your preferences, choose to receive either email, SMS notifications, or a call about your loved one's activity.
